Run for REZilience

ITLTRF is supporting the National Indian Justice Center and the Northern California Fire Recovery with this charity event. All funds raised from this run will be donated to support the recovery of American Indian people and communities affected by the 2017 wildfires. The course is located in beautiful Pauma Valley on the Pauma Indian Reservation. The entire route winds through orange groves and the foothill of Yuima. Participants are encouraged to run, walk, or jog the course. All finishers will receive a finishing medal, t-shirt, and tote bag. Local first responders and emergency agency partners will also be in attendance to share preparedness and recovery information after the race.
